

2012 年普通高等学校招生全国统一考试（重庆卷）

英语试题卷

2012 年英语高考试题秉承了以往的难度适中，不偏不怪，展现了交际原则与生活感。在选材上，有一些创新，其中作文题尤为时髦，学生需要用英语发布网上物品交换信息。为 2013 新高考做出了平稳铺垫。

听力题，还是采用传统的美式英语，语速适中，比较简单，语音语调比较清晰，和平时学生练习的内容差不多。单选题，覆盖了大纲要求的大部分语法知识点，在语言考试中，对交际语言的考察向来重视。在单选设置上有了创新，其中一题情景题虽然简单，但所考交际用语从未在其它省市高考题中出现，内容涉及朋友之间的邀请用语，学生读来很有兴趣。完形题，采用了一篇记叙文，材料地道，体现了人文教育的理念。读懂大意容易，但也有一定的梯度和区分度，符合高考选拔性考试的要求。各种题型分布合理，难度适中。个别空需要学生跨越句子和段落去寻找线索，重点考查学生对语境的理解和英语词汇的应用能力。

完型与阅读一向是拉开差距的题型，今年这两道题材料选择地道，强调上下文对照，重点考察学生对语境的理解，以及交际性用语。对于考生来说，阅读题相对亲切，与去年相比甚至更简单。从文章体裁来看，A 篇记叙文，B 篇应用文，C、D 两篇说明文，E 篇议论文。五篇文章中前三篇难度较小，但后两篇生词、难度都增多，选项难度较大，尤其最后一篇阅读，易丢分。今年短文改错覆盖的考点也较为传统，文章选择是一篇类似学生习作的给爷爷的一封信。

“英语作文题让人眼前一亮，不仅时髦还很环保！”英语作文是一篇半开放式作文，形式采用学生熟悉的汉语提示，要求写一篇“发布网上物品交换信息”的作文，和学生生活贴得很近。基础差的考生容易上手，基础好的学生则有足够发挥空间。这类作文学生都能动手写作，但是如果要得高分，以下几个因素缺一不可：好的开头结尾、行文逻辑清晰、高级词汇及句型的使用、漂亮的书写和卷面。

One of my wonderful memories is about a Christmas gift. Unlike other gifts, it came without wrap(包装).

On September 11th, 1958, Mum gave birth to Richard. After she brought him home from hospital, she put him in my lap, saying, "I promised you a gift, and here it is." What an honor! I turned four a month earlier and none of my friends had such a baby doll of their own. I played with it day and night. I sang to it. I told it stories. I told it over and over how much I loved it!

One morning, however, I found its bed empty. My doll was gone! I cried for it. Mum wept and told me that the poor little thing had been sent to a hospital. It had a fever. For several days, I heard Mum and Dad whispering such words as "hopeless", "pitiful", and "dying", which sounded ominous.

Christmas was coming. "Don't expect any presents this year," Dad said, pointing at the socks I hung in the living room. "If your baby brother lives, that'll be Christmas enough." As he spoke, his eyes filled with tears. I'd never seen him cry before.

The phone rang early on Christmas morning. Dad jumped out of bed to answer it. From my bedroom I heard him say, "What? He's all right?" He hung up and shouted upstairs. "The hospital said we can bring Richard home!"

"Thank God!" I heard Mum cry.

From the upstairs window, I watched my parents rush out to the car. I had never seen them so happy. And I was also full of joy. What a wonderful day! My baby doll would be home. I ran downstairs. My socks still hung there flat. But I knew they were not empty; they were filled with love!

Top lists are lecturing people on everything from "100 books to visit" to "100 books to read". Aren't you just tired of being told what to do with your time?

Now you have a list to end all lists!

Take a look at the following two examples from the list of "101 things not to do":

Swim with Dolphins(海豚)?

Swimming with dolphins is one of the world's most profitable tourist activities. However, not every dolphin will welcome having their busy, tiring day interrupted by tourists screaming and pushing around them in the water. Worse yet, when dolphins get too near to the boats loaded with tourists, they could get caught up in ropes and killed by propellers(螺旋桨).

Here's a little secret. Dolphins look like smiling at you, but actually they're just opening their mouths.

Go to See the Mona Lisa?

There must be something about the mysterious(神秘的) smile. The 6 million people who visit the lady in the Louvre every year can't all be wrong, after all. But they can be quite annoying, standing in front of you, holding up their cameras to prevent you from seeing anything. In fact, it is hard for you to see the painting clearly because you have to stay away from it for security reasons. After queuing for hours, many tourists can remain in front of the painting only for 15 seconds at most.

If the mysterious lady in the picture knew her fate, she wouldn't just be smiling, she'd be laughing.

So, still long to see the Mona Lisa? If you want to find out more about the list, read 101 Things NOT to Do Before You Die. Visit www. not2dobeforeidie. co. uk and buy the book at a 20% discount.

- A. It is wrong to go and see the mysterious smile.
- B. It is not as satisfying as expected.
- C. Fifteen seconds in front of the painting is enough.
- D. Queuing for hours is worthwhile.

62. The list of "101 things not to do" is made most probably because its author _____.

- A. thinks it boring to do the things suggested by other lists
- B. believes other lists are not humorous enough
- C. intends to persuade people to read more lists

There is no better way to enjoy Scottish traditions than going fishing and tasting a little bit of whisky(威士忌) at a quiet place like the Inverlochy Castle. When Queen Victoria visited the castle in 1873 she wrote in her diary, "I never saw a lovelier spot," And she didn't even go fishing.

Scotland is not easily defined. In certain moments, this quiet land of lakes and grass and mountains changes before your very eyes. When evening gently sweeps the hillside into orange light, the rivers, teeming with fish, can turn into streams of gold. As you settle down with just a fishing pole and a basket on the bank of River Orchy, near the Inverlochy castle, any frustration(烦恼) will float away as gently as the circling water. It's just you and purple, pink, white flowers, seeking a perfect harmony. If you are a new comer to fishing, learning the basics from a fishing guide may leave you with a lifetime's fun. For many, fishing is more than a sport; it is an art.

Scotland offers interesting places where you can rest after a long day's fishing. Set against a wild mountain and hidden behind woodland, the beautiful Inverlochy Castle Hotel below the Nevis is a perfect place to see the beauty of Scotland's mountains. Ben Nevis is the highest of all British mountains, and reaching its 1342-metre top is a challenge. But it's not just what goes up what matters; what comes down is unique. More than 900 metres high, on the mountain's north face, lies an all-important source of pure water. Its name comes from the Gaelic language "usquebaugh" or "water of life"; and it is the single most important ingredient(原料) in Scotland's best known drink: whisky.

64. The story of Queen Victoria is to show that _____.

- A. the queen is rich in tour experience

- B. the Castle is a good place to go in Scotland
- C. tasting whisky is better than going fishing
- D. 1873 is a special year for the queen

65. How is Paragraph 2 mainly developed?

- A. By giving descriptions.
- B. By following time order.
- C. By analyzing causes.
- D. By making comparisons.

66. What is Ben Nevis special for?

- A. The Inverlochy Castle Hotel.
- B. The beauty of its surroundings.
- C. The water from the mountain.
- D. The challenge up to its top.

67. What is the main purpose of the passage?

- A. To introduce Scottish traditions to tourists.
- B. To show the attractions of Scotland to readers.
- C. To explore geographical characteristics of Scotland.
- D. To describe the pleasures of life in Scotland.

To take the apple as a forbidden fruit is the most unlikely story the Christians(基督教徒) have ever cooked up. For them, the forbidden fruit from Eden is evil(邪恶的). So when Columbus brought the tomato back from South America, a land mistakenly considered to be Eden, everyone jumped to be the obvious conclusion. Wrongly taken as the apple of Eden, the tomato was shut out of the door of Europeans.

What made it particularly terrifying was its similarity to the mandrake, a plant that was thought to have come from Hell(地狱). What earned the plant its awful reputation was its roots which looked like a dried-up human body occupied by evil spirits. Though the tomato and the mandrake were quite different except that both had bright red or yellow fruit, the general population considered them one and the same, too terrible to touch.

Cautious Europeans long ignored the tomato, and until the early 1700s most of the West people continued to drag their feet. In the 1880s, the daughter of a well-known plant expert wrote that the most interesting part of an afternoon tea at her father's house had been the "introduction of this wonderful new fruit—or is it a vegetable?" As late as the twentieth century some writers still classed tomatoes with mandrakes as an "evil fruit".

But in the end tomatoes carried the day. The hero of the tomato was an American named Robert Johnson, and when he was publicly going to eat the tomato in 1820, people journeyed for hundreds of miles to watch him drop dead. "What are you afraid of?" he shouted. "I'll show you fools that these things are good to eat!" Then he bit into the tomato. Some people fainted. But he survived and, according to a local story, set up a tomato-canning factory.

68. The tomato was shut out of the door of early Europeans mainly because _____.

- A. it made Christive evil

- B. it was the apple of Eden
- C. it came from a forbidden land
- D. it was religiously unacceptable

69. What can we infer the underlined part in Paragraph 3?

- A. The process of ignoring the tomato slowed down.
- B. There was little progress in the study of the tomato.
- C. The tomato was still refused in most western countries.
- D. Most western people continued to get rid of the tomato.

70. What is the main reason for Robert Johnson to eat the tomato Publicly?

- A. To make himself a hero.
- B. To remove people's fear of the tomato.
- C. To speed up the popularity of the tomato.
- D. To persuade people to buy products from his factory.

71. What is the main purpose of the passage?

- A. To challenge people's fixed concepts of the tomato.
- B. To give an explanation to people's dislike of the tomato.
- C. To present the change of people's attitudes to the tomato.
- D. To show the process of freeing the tomato from religious influence.

In his 1930 essay "Economic Possibilities for Our Grandchildren", John Keynes, a famous economist, wrote that human needs fall into two classes: absolute needs, which are independent of what others have, and relative needs, which make us feel superior to our fellows. He thought that although relative needs may indeed be insatiable(无止境的), this is not true of absolute needs. Keynes was surely correct that only a small part of total spending is decided by the desire for superiority. He was greatly mistaken, however, in seeing this desire as the only source of insatiable demands.

Decisions to spend are also driven by ideas of quality which can influence the demand for almost all goods, including even basic goods like food. When a couple goes out for an anniversary dinner, for example, the thought of feeling superior to others probably never comes to them. Their goal is to share a special meal that stands out from other meals.

There are no obvious limits to the escalation of demands for quality. For example, Porsche, a famous car producer, has a model which was considered perhaps the best sport car on the market. Priced at over $120,000, it handles perfectly well and has great speed acceleration. But in 2004, the producer introduced some changes which made the model slightly better in handling and acceleration. People who really care about cars find these small improvements exciting. To get them, however, they must pay almost four times the price.

By placing the desire to be superior to others at the heart of his description of insatiable demands, Keynes actually reduced such demands. However, the desire for higher quality has no natural limits.

72. According to the passage, John Keynes believed that _____.

- A. desire is the root of both absolute and relative needs
- B. absolute needs come from our sense of superiority

- C. relative needs alone lead to insatiable demands
D. absolute needs are stronger than relative needs
73. What do we know about the couple in Paragraph 3?

- A. They want to show their superiority.
B. They find specialty important to meals.
C. Their demands for food are not easily satisfied.
D. Their choice of dinner is related to ideas of quality.
74. What does the underlined word "escalation" in Paragraph 4 probably mean?
A. Understanding. B. Increase. C. Difference. D. Study.
75. The author of the passage argues that _____.
A. absolute needs have no limits
B. demands for quality are not insatiable
C. human desires influence ideas of quality
D. relative needs decide most of our spending
